

BOOK NEWS

Can I just remind people that I am able to obtain books for them on a mail order basis (not only Merton Books). There are at the moment some quite outstanding books available on the whole subject of Christian Spirituality.

Christian Spirituality vols. I, II, III.

These are a really good buy if your interested in the history and development of spirituality from the Apostolic Fathers through to the present time. They are a little expensive at £20 each but, for the serious enquirer they represent a great asset.

The Contemplative Face of Old Testament Wisdom.

At less than a 'fiver', this is a great little book which allows one to see the Old Testament in a slightly different light than before. It points the reader to some interesting similarities within the Wisdom literature and will certainly be profitable to those engaged in the 'spiritual quest.

Sadly the Road to Joy is still not available and as yet I have no date for its release here in Britain, it has of course, been out for some time in the U.S.A.

SOCIETY NEWS

It might interest people to know that at this time arrangements are being made for a programme of events which will include meetings, conferences and, hopefully, a retreat; I will let you have details of these when they are available.
